A Larger Return on Harvest Money

Ranchers who anticipate coming expenses and deposit their harvest receipts accordingly can usually obtain a larger return on their money.

Current funds naturally go into a checking account, but money which will not be needed until some future date can earn more interest if deposited in a time account or in a certificate of deposit.

We shall be glad to discuss this subject with you.

DRILLING FOR OIL WILL COMMENCE AT CHARTER OAK

Representative of Unnamed Company Says Ten Wells Will Be Sunk On One Hundred-Acre Territory, Commencing Soon.

At last actual arrangements have been made with a development company whereby the quest for oil in the Charter Oak and San Dimas territory will begin in earnest.

As the result of an interview with Major A. F. Judson of Los Angeles, the oldest geologist in California, with a nation-wide reputation for efficiency, it was learned that oil does exist in this section of the state and all that is necessary is the nerve to make the venture to make the dreams of the ranchers come true.

According to the major, oil is made or developed in the hills or anticlines, and gives that as the reason why the majority of the derricks are erected on those elevations. But although, according to the major, these hills or anticlines are the original source of oil, yet it does not follow that it may not be found at lower elevations, for in accordance with the law of gravitation, streams of oil flow from these anticlines and form pools or pockets even in the lowest valleys. This has been the experience in all parts of the world, and we have notable examples of this trend in the Santa Fe oil field, which receives its supply from the hills north of it, Signal Hill, and Montebello, in accordance with the same law which makes water run down hill.

It is now nine months since the possibility of the discovery of oil first claimed the attention of our neighbors in Charter Oak and San Dimas, and they are to be congratulated upon having made arrangements with a producing company possessing such confidence in the ultimate success of the venture that it is willing to assume the responsibility of sinking ten wells in the Charter Oak district upon one hundred acres signed up for that purpose—the erection of the first derrick to commence immediately.

The company, whose name the major is not at liberty to divulge at this time, has agreed to the development on a one-sixth royalty and will pay for all trees damaged or removed at the rate of thirty-five dollars per tree.

The major claims that there are three oil structures in this part of the county, running in a southwesterly direction from the hills north of Charter Oak and San Dimas, through Covina and on to Santa Fe Springs.

The fact that a reputable company should be willing to assume the responsibility of development upon terms so advantageous to the ranchers of these districts, speaks volumes for the success of the enterprise, and the major, who is accredited by chambers of commerce all over the United States, the School of Mines, and by correspondence with ex-President Wilson and President Warren G. Harding, assures us there is absolutely no cause for unfriendly competition—and there is enough for all if the inhabitants will dig for it in their own territory from a source of supply adjacent to the boundary of each, without interfering with the rights of any one.

According to the major, Covina has the same prospects for oil development on the assumption that the same streams or oil sands which originate in the hills north of us, follow in a southwesterly direction to the country below.

PILE OF BACKS CAUSE MUCH SMOKE, BUT NO DAMAGE

A pile of sacks and rubbish which accidentally caught fire on Front street, near the Covina Heights packing house, Wednesday night, made such a cloud of smoke that the fire engine was called to prevent any further damage. The siren called out more people than have been seen on the streets of Covina for many a long day, but no damage was done to any of the buildings nearby.

Walnut Packing Season Opens On Wednesday

Everything was in readiness for the opening Wednesday morning of the plant of La Puente Valley Walnut Association to receive a bumper crop of nuts. The packing house is the largest of the kind in the world. The first nuts which were picked were of good quality but hard to hull owing to the hot weather that scorched the outside hull. On account of the sticking of these hulls it will be necessary for the growers to pay almost double the price originally set for picking. The estimated yield this year for the La Puente Valley Walnut Association is about 3200 tons.

At a meeting of the California Walnut Growers' Association held in Los Angeles Tuesday the following prices for the nuts as prepared for shipment were set for this year:

Diamond brand buds, 26 cents; Golden State buds, 22½ cents; first class soft shells, 22½ cents; second grade soft shells, 18 cents. It is possible that the Eureka brand and special grade nuts will bring 28 cents.

A number of local walnut men attended this meeting, among them being A. E. Hurst, C. J. Hurst, J. N. Hurst, W. S. Sawyer, S. L. Watts, Floyd Pratt, B. S. Barker, H. Childs, N. B. Shaeff, and J. E. Van Wig.

HERE IS ANOTHER CHANCE LOOMING AHEAD OF COVINA

'Tis Said Baldwin Park Contemplates Incorporating Up to the Covina City Limits, with a Prospect of Annexing Us in Time.

Here's more trouble! The news comes to Covina today, straight from Baldwin Park, that that ambitious sister city is plotting again the whites.

clear up to the city limits of Covina. This suggests that this country incorporation habit is ketchin'. Baldwin Park has got it from the folks of West Covina. However, it doesn't appear to be infectious in all directions alike; for example, the people who live around the outskirts of this mile-square town, and who ought to be living inside of it, are proof against any such contagion. However, it is plain what the next move will be, after Baldwin Park and Covina have joined in a party-wall. Simply this: that Baldwin Park will go right on then and annex Covina.

Maybe this isn't so far-fetched, either. Right now it looks as though there were some danger of it. Baldwin Park is growing like a patch of devilgrass in a bluegrass lawn. Why not? With a friend, not even a resident, who is willing to build a women's clubhouse and make a present of it to the Baldwin Park women, there is apt to be quite a lot of snap in that community. Look out for a solid block of new business fronts there.

In Covina we haven't built a new house since. And we are not making any moves to build any. Right now there are at least three good mercantile enterprises, just about our size, that want to get in here, and none of them has yet been able to find a place or a chance, and there isn't a dollar in town that will go into a new building, to the end that the natural, proper, inevitable growth of the town may proceed.

They will probably name us East Baldwin Park; or maybe they will call us Eastside for short. Anyhow, it will be our treat!

DONALD WARNER SURPRISES FRIENDS BY MARRIAGE

A surprise was given Covina when announcement was made of the marriage of Donald Warner, the popular young son of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Warner of College street, to Miss Katherine Guthrie of Georgia street, Los Angeles, which occurred Monday, Sept. 25th, at the Methodist parsonage in Fresno. Dr. Frank Stevens, a fraternity brother of Mr. Warner's, performed the ceremony. The bride has been employed in the Citizens' National bank. Mr. Warner has been playing the piano with the Flores orchestra at Janco's cafe in Los Angeles, and he, with Miss Guthrie, left Sunday evening with the orchestra to assume a position at White's cafe in Fresno.

The local W. C. T. U. will meet this afternoon (Friday) at the home of Mrs. E. V. Rice of West San Bernardino road, from 2:30 until 4:30. A continued discussion of the amendments to be voted upon at the November state election will take place.

La Verne College Held to 6-6 Tie In Practice Game, with Covina Playing Stronger Game—Covina Team Lighter and Faster

For the second time in two years the football teams of the local high school and La Verne college left the field of battle with the score a tie at 6 all, in a game on the local grounds last Friday evening.

In spite of a weight handicap of 15 pounds to the man, the collegians were able to make but few downs against their lighter and younger opponents; and but for a break of the game when a Covina punt was blocked in mid-field, followed by a fifty-yard run by J. Brooks of La Verne, the game would have been Covina's.

For an early-season game both teams played remarkably clean football. The Covina team handled the ball in fine style, fumbling but once, and showed the effects of their intensive training by recovering every La Verne fumble.

Fullback Boots won the honor and ice cream by plowing through the La Verne line for the first touchdown of the year after his teammates had worked the ball to the 5-yard line by a series of bucks and passes.

WHITTIER BEATEN, 7-0

After handing out neat drubbings to South Pasadena and Monrovia high schools, Whittier high, looking for more worlds to conquer, visited Covina and met with a surprise. Like a certain gentleman of old, "they came, they saw," but they failed to conquer. The score was 7-0 in favor of Covina.

On Wednesday evening the scrubs got in action against Puente high, while on Thursday night the second team took the Montebello crew into camp. As these were but practice scrimmages, no scores were kept, but the way the Covina reserves showed up, Coach McIntosh needn't worry greatly over injuries.

This year the fruits of the coach's past labor begin to show. He came to the local school when athletics were at the lowest possible ebb; when there was little or no spirit behind athletics on the part of the student-body, and the number of men reporting for the various teams were few in excess of the actual team number.

Now, after three years of persistent effort, the number of participants in the various sports is a revelation. Practically half of the male members of the student-body are out in football togs, and more would be if the paraphernalia were available.

In remarking about the condition, Coach McIntosh said: "I believe there are certain qualities of a boy's character which begin to function at the high school age. These if properly directed become a powerful factor for good in his life. Undirected, they are a menace. No subject on the school curriculum meets this need. Athletics does. Therefore I believe in athletics for everyone."

Covina Woman's Club Opens Season Monday

Home from mountain, sea and field, refreshed and invigorated by their vacation period, club women everywhere are eager to take up their responsibilities again.

The year's work for members of the Monday Afternoon Club of Covina will open with the meeting of Monday, Oct. 9, when the club will have as guests of honor the district president, Mrs. John C. Urquhart, and the first vice-president, Mrs. J. S. Trehwella.

The clubhouse has been thoroughly renovated and put in good order, many improvements having been made since the cessation of club activities in June. This fact, coupled with the one that a splendid year's program has been arranged, offers even greater inducement and compensation than ever before, for becoming a member of this wide-awake body of women, who under the guidance of their capable president, Mrs. C. E. Paige, accomplished much good last year and who will, no doubt, surpass their own best efforts the coming year.

Ladies desiring membership may communicate now with Mrs. D. F. Stafford, chairman of membership.

Reckless Driving Costs Autoist Fifteen Dollars

E. Lorea of Glendora was fined $15 in the justice court here on Thursday morning for reckless driving.

At Section Center and Grand avenue he and five other Mexicans collided with a car driven by F. G. Le Cocq of 427 Hope street, Los Angeles, and containing his mother, grandmother and sister. No fatalities resulted from the accident, although the participants were more or less injured by broken glass.

It appears that Lorea had recently acquired the car, with the driving of which he was unfamiliar, and this fact, coupled with poor brakes and excessive speed, caused him to lose control of the machine, which resulted in the accident.

DAILEY STAFFORD TO ATTEND NATIONAL LEGION CONVENTION

Dailey S. Stafford leaves the 12th of the month as a delegate from the ninth district caucus of the American Legion of California for New Orleans, where the national convention of the American Legion will be held from the 16th until the 20th. Mr. Stafford expects to make the trip to Mexico City and Havana before returning to Covina the latter part of the month.

in the school, and will consider that my goal—Every boy in some phase of competitive athletics.

"We are out to win championships if we can, but that is not our sole aim. The boy comes first."

Covina will play a practice game here with Redlands next Friday afternoon. Redlands lost a game to Citrus last week by a score of 3-0, Citrus making a place kick. One week later, Friday, Oct. 20th, Covina will start off the league season by playing Glendale on the Covina grounds. Glendale is probably the strongest team in the league.

Old Age and Glasses

The gradual decrease of ocular power which accompanies age should not be considered contrary to nature any more than it is for hair to turn gray, the teeth to become defective, or the muscles to weaken.

Besides, as age advances, the other physical faculties are apt to be used less and less, and the eyes more and more.

Artificial aid is therefore to be expected and should always be resorted to at the first indication of failing eyesight. Call and be fitted with the glasses your eyes require.

CULLEN MOTTER COLLIDES WITH JAP-DRIVEN TRUCK

Cullen Motter met with an accident Wednesday about noon when he collided with a truck being driven south on Azusa avenue at San Bernardino road. Mr. Motter escaped with only a few bruises and cuts. The Jap driving the truck was unhurt, and little damage was done to the truck. The Chevrolet driven by Mr. Motter is almost a complete wreck, so great was the impact between the light car and the heavy delivery truck.

State Board of Health Sees Answer to Sewer Problems

The regular weekly luncheon meeting of the chamber of commerce was held at Longworth's, Tuesday noon, with the best attendance of directors since last June.

Unusual interest attached to the meeting from the presence of Mr. R. F. Goudey, the southern division engineer of the bureau of sanitary engineering of the California state board of health. Mr. Goudey's business is the solving of the sanitation problems of any and all localities, and in line with this part of the work he came to Covina Tuesday and was present at the meeting of the chamber.

Mr. Goudey made it very plain that the state would not countenance any infliction of nuisance, in any form or degree, upon one vicinity by another. But he also made it equally clear that modern scientific methods of sewage treatment are so efficacious that the worst of sewage is today rendered harmless, inoffensive, and highly respectable. The activated sludge process is the thing that pulls the stinger out of the worst of sewage, and enables a densely populated community to convert its most objectionable waste into practically pure water, and with a small residue of perfectly odorless and inoffensive thin sludge that has value and demand as fertilizer.

In 1916 the state constructed at Folsom penitentiary the first plant of this kind in the state, serving a population equal to that of Covina, and located in the very midst of the dense family of these wards of the state, with the residence of the warden of the institution just across the street. This plant has worked perfectly. There has been no offense of any kind, and it is good for many years to come. Suitable concrete tanks receive the raw sewage, and simple atmospheric air, under a pressure of about seven pounds, is forced up through it from the bottom. The surface water drawn off is from 95 to 98 per cent pure, as clear and odorless as any water, and in fact, perfectly pure water save for a small percentage of nitrous matter carried by it. This can be removed by chlorination and filtration, and perfect pure water produced, representing the major part of the sewage. At intervals of one or two weeks a small amount of the water must be removed. This is good fertilizer, and men at the Tuesday meeting put in a bid forthwith for all that the city plant will ever be able to turn out. A point which Mr. Goudey emphasized is the fact that the water flowing from such a treatment plant is as stable, unchangeable, and free from decay as any other good water. It can be stored as long as any water, and longer than many waters that are commonly considered good.

Mr. Goudey was emphatic in his statement that the Covina city farm tract is ideal as a piece of ground to irrigate with the water that might thus be produced. He went on to name a number of cities in this part of the state that are making various dispositions of their sewage.

San Bernardino has a tract of land on which it farms its untreated sewage. This land is really overladen with this for most fertilizer, for the good of the land, but there is no nuisance.

Colton runs its raw sewage upon a tract of sandy land near the town, with no resulting offense, although the sewage is not even farmed.

Pomona has a contract with the Diamond-Bar ranch whereby the latter takes its sewage untreated. This is farmed in; no nuisance visible.

Whittier has a small tract upon which it has been farming its sewage, but this is proving inadequate, and it is now putting in a Imhoff tank plant. The Imhoff tank process runs off a greatly modified water, but leaves a very large residue. At Whittier this run-off is taken away by a drain. It is not expected on any hand that there will be any complaint of nuisance. The Imhoff tank is about as costly in construction as the activated sludge process, but it is very much cheaper to operate; however, the Imhoff tank has not been considered in Covina, as it is felt that this community requires the best process to be had.

Ontario runs raw sewage onto the peach orchards below the town. There is a large acreage there upon which this discharge is lodged, and the soil is very sandy. There is no nuisance.

Pasadena has maintained a sewer farm that has been an evident nuisance, because of the rather tight soil, and the lack of sufficient acreage. But this nuisance is soon to disappear, as Pasadena, South Pasadena and Alhambra are joining in a capable activated sludge plant, the installation of which, it is assured, will remove all offense.

Glendale is installing an activated sludge plant. It is right at the upper end of one of the finest parts of the city, and between it and the new 100-acre Glendale city park, which is promised to be a fine one. Nobody is fighting the location; on the other hand, one of the progressive citizens of Glendale has asked that the plant be placed on his property. The Glendale people are assured that they will not be annoyed in any manner, and are perfectly satisfied.

Mr. Goudey says he can see no reason whatever why such odorless, crystal-clear water, carrying a bit of nitrogen in some form or other, should not be used to irrigate the tract of land that the city now owns. The state is more than willing that this water be so used. The taking of land for the right of sewerage, water line, he says, is perfectly feasible, and the whole proposition, in the view of the state board of health, is commendable and should be realized, since it will provide for Covina for all time, with no harm or offense or danger to anybody, in the city or out. This presupposes the construction and operation of the treatment plant in the city. The only objection to the proximity of the plant is some possible unsightliness, easily removed by its architectural treatment and landscaping. It is quite possible that there are persons in Covina who are as public-spirited as the Glendale property owner who offered a site for the plant that city is building, and that a way may be found to dispose of the water from the plant that will please Covina and all her neighbors.

By the way, the Glendale plant will be in operation in about a month, and can then afford a genuine sample of operation.

J. E. CALKINS,
Secretary chamber of commerce.

Mrs. Nash Returns From New Hampshire

Two months ago Mrs. W. W. Nash left Covina for a visit with her father, Dr. Pierce, and two sisters of Winchester, New Hampshire.

Spending a day in San Francisco, the journey was continued on to Seattle, where another short stop was made and then up the Alaskan Passage to Prince Rupert, a quaint pioneer town in the Canadian northwest. Thence by train to Vancouver, where another pleasant day was spent with Mr. Leslie Taylor, son of Mrs. Taylor and brother to Mr. Ronald Taylor of Covina. The rugged beauty of the scenery of this country has caused it to be known as the Norway of America. Prince Rupert possesses the largest fish storage plant in the world, with the capacity of six million pounds of fish.

The journey along the Skeena river, which is navigable to the largest ocean liners, was one of the most beautiful sights of the trip. The country on both sides of the railroad track was covered with a beautiful carpet of purple fireweed, which is a peculiar growth developed on the land which has been devastated by forest fires. The view from the train has the appearance of a path through a beautiful garden, and is a sight to be seen only in this part of the world.

Jasper national park is another of the beauty spots of nature and the view along the Athabaska river is a vision of grandeur to be seen only in this country of big things. Mount Edith Cavell, named after the famous Red Cross nurse who was murdered during the world war, stands forth in majestic dignity and impels a feeling of sublime peace in strong contrast to the wild and rugged scenery.

Edmonton, Winnipeg, Ottawa and Montreal were progressive stages in the journey east. At Montreal Mrs. Nash spent a very pleasant day with Mr. and Mrs. Lovell, the latter being the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Kerekhoff of Covina.

From Montreal Mrs. Nash went direct to Winchester, N. H., her old home and still the abode of her father and two sisters. Occasional showers of rain by no means interfered with the pleasure of the visit, for in contrast to the climate of sunny California, the rainy day once in a while was a decided novelty.

In the east, radio communication is almost a general household institution and has attained to a pitch of perfection seldom witnessed here. On one occasion Mrs. Nash and her father visited a friend at Waban, a short distance from home, where they listened to the service in St. Paul's cathedral in Boston. The whole service was distinctly heard—from the sound of the grand organ to the singing of the choir. In fact, the only part they missed was the collection.

In Boston, Mrs. Nash visited the old homes of Louise M. Olcott and Nathaniel Hawthorne. On the return journey the train was held up at Cueros, New Mexico, for twenty-six hours on account of a railroad wreck which had occurred at that place about thirty minutes before they got there, but as the railroad company provided meals during that time, no great inconvenience was experienced aside from the delay.

Randall Has Cure For Profiteering

Proposes Business Usury Law, Limiting Profits of Corporations Dealing in Necessities of Life—Will Introduce Bill in Congress

Startling his hearers with the boldness of his plan, former Congressman Charles H. Randall told the state labor convention at Long Beach on Tuesday afternoon of his purpose to introduce in Congress, if reelected, a law to place a limit on the profits of every corporation in the United States. This is his method of curing the age-old evil of profiteering in the necessities of life.

"No one questions the sound policy," continued Mr. Randall before the convention, "of prohibiting the money Shylock from collecting usurious interest upon his loans, hence we have usury laws in every state.

"No one questions the wisdom and the necessity of laws which control the profits which may be earned by public service corporations, through the rate-making power.

"Then why should the giant corporations which distribute the necessities of life, food, fuel, shelter and clothing, be permitted to rob the people through inordinate profits?

Corporations are creatures of the state, and enjoying privileges granted by public authority. They are under some obligation to the power which created them.

"Inasmuch as corporate interests control both the buying and selling end of the necessities of life, the earning power of corporate dollars should be limited by public authority to a reasonable amount.

"Having this in mind I am in favor of and will introduce in congress, if reelected, a bill to collect as a tax the excessive profits of corporations doing business for profit. Under the provisions of the proposed bill the secretary of the treasury of the United States is made ex-officio corporation commissioner of the United States and the reports of corporations are to be filed with him and the tax collected in much the same manner as the income tax is now determined and collected. The machinery of the secretary of the treasury for the collection of the income tax can be extended so as to include the necessary work in computing and determining this tax and collecting the same. Corporations will be allowed a reasonable net profit annually, and that profit has been tentatively placed at 20 per cent in this proposed bill. This would mean that every corporate dollar actually invested in a corporate enterprise and used in the same would be permitted to earn 20 per cent and all stock paid for in full or par would be permitted to earn the 20 per cent dividend, but stock issued for less than par would not participate to the extent that the corporation had received money, property or labor in payment for the same, that is, stock that is not paid for in full would not participate, to the extent of the water that is in the stock.

"Stock of corporations that is above par or where the assets are large and the capitalization low would receive 20 per cent on the actual or book value of its stock. All the excess net profits over 20 per cent shall go to the government as an income tax or excess profits tax and be paid into the United States treasury. I might suggest that out of this could be paid the soldiers' bonus, for most of the profiteering was done by those who remained at home while the soldier was in Europe fighting our battles. It would be thus observed that the corporation's dollar will be able to participate to the extent of 20 per cent net profit and that the corporation is not hereby limited in its earning power, for all it has to do is to increase its capital and its business, just as an individual does when he desires to expand his business."

Speaking further as to what in his opinion would be the revenue derived from such source, Mr. Randall said: "I do not know how much revenue this bill would produce if in operation, but believe that it might be as much as a billion dollars the first year. This, of course, is based upon reports appearing in the newspapers where large corporations, such as the sugar trust and the tobacco companies, have been paying dividends annually as high as 100 per cent on the entire capital stock, including the watered portion thereof."

Mr. Randall further stated that in his opinion the differences of capital and labor could more easily be adjusted if this became a law for the reason that the tendency of corporations will be to pay excess profits to labor in increased wages rather than to the government in taxes.

"If this bill becomes a law," said Mr. Randall, "it will put all private industrial corporations on a par with public service corporations, because the corporation commissioner would occupy toward the private corporations practically the same position that the railroad commission of California and the interstate commerce commission of the U. S. now holds toward the public service corporation."

COAST RADIO COMPANY IS PUTTING OUT NEW INVENTION

G. S. Corpe, formerly Ford distributor in the valley, was in Covina yesterday in the interest of the Coast Radio Company of El Monte, of which he is manager.

Mr. Corpe states that he was never so busy in his life as he is with the new company. The company is kept busy night and day turning out radio apparatus.

Mr. Corpe says they have just secured the manufacturing rights of the Miller universal wave radio frequency amplifier, the invention of Doctor John M. Miller of the naval research laboratory, bureau of standards, Washington, D. C.

This instrument amplifies incoming signals before they are rectified by the detector; thus resulting in making audible signals which otherwise would be absolutely unheard. The instrument greatly simplifies the installation of a receiving set, and is a great advance in the matter of economy.

NEEDS OF "YOUNG AMERICA"

European Critic Thinks That Youth of Great Republic Suffers From Too Much Freedom.

George Santayana, famous philosopher and writer, in an article written especially in the Forum on "America's Young Radicals," says:

"I have made a severe effort to discover as well as I may from a distance what these rebels want. I see what they are against—they are against everything—but what are they for? I have not been able to discover it. This may be due to my lack of understanding or to their incapacity to express themselves clearly, for their style is something appalling. But perhaps this scandalous failure in expression, when expression is what they yearn for and demand at all costs, may be a symptom of something deeper; of a radical mistake they have made in the direction of their efforts and aspirations. They think they need more freedom, more room, a chance to be more spontaneous. I suspect that they have had too much freedom, too much empty space, too much practice in being spontaneous when there was nothing in them to bubble out. Their style is a sign of this; it is not merely that they have no mastery of the English language as hitherto spoken, no clear sense of the value of words, and no simplicity; that they are without the vocabulary or the idiom of cultivated people. . . . No, it is not more freedom that young America needs in order to be happy; it needs more discipline."

ON EQUALITY WITH HUSBANDS

Filipino Women, Entering Into Matrimony, Become Partners in Future Business Enterprises.

"When a Filipino woman marries she goes into partnership with her husband," said Mme. Sofia Reyes de Veyra, wife of the Philippine commissioner to the United States. "While the men handle the work and employees, the women attend to the finances, act as cashiers, pay the workers and oversee much of the business."

Things are made easy in many ways for Filipino women, she asserted, writes Louise Catol in the Milwaukee Journal. Professional opportunities are as good for them as for men. Women are already members of the Philippine Bar association, a privilege not open to British women.

"Married women in the Philippines hold their property in severalty, and are guardians of their own children. Of the property which accrues to a married couple, the wife is half administratrix and there are vested rights which cannot be taken away. It is not unusual for the mother of a family to have not only household leadership, but economic control."

Women's clubs are rapidly growing in the islands, Mme. De Veyra said, and pointed out that already 305 clubs and associations exist, which have formed a federation.

Mme. De Veyra has four children, "as bright, healthy and happy as any mother could wish," as she described them.

'Tis Me! 'Tain't Me!

Now get this—it's good. Two sets of twin brothers occupy their time in the business life of Indianapolis. One set is Louis and Andrew Hoover, as alike as the acorns on a pair of dice. The other is William and Charles Small, as similar as bananas.

Lou Hoover knows Bill Small, but he doesn't know Charles.

Charles Small knows Andy Hoover, but he doesn't know Lou.

The other day Lou Hoover met Charles Small on the street.

"Hello, Bill," said Lou.

"There you are, Andy, all messed up again. I'm Charlie not Bill."

"Well, you haven't anything on me. I'm Lou, not Andy."—Indianapolis News.

A Serious Matter.

"I suppose," said the cross-examining lawyer, in his snappiest manner, "that you remember the date of your birth?"

"Certainly," said the witness with a bored air. "Every man remembers his birthday."

"A newly born infant has no memory. Now, sir, how do you know that it wasn't a day sooner or a day later, or a week, or a month, or a year than the date you have in mind?"

"Why—er—ahem—I've been told."

"Exactly. You've been told, but you don't know. Step down. Gentlemen of the jury, this is the kind of witness who has testified against the unimpeachable character of my client."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Forage Crop Pays.

As a result of systematized regulation by the United States forest service, the forage crop of the national forests is now returning an annual income to the federal treasury of close to $2,500,000, says the American Forestry magazine. By a system of range allotments under which nominal grazing fees are charged, the forest service has brought the national forest ranges under practical and profitable administration.

The Pitcher and the Well.

"Did you participate in many engagements while in France?" asked the interested old lady.

"Only five," replied the ex-A. E. F. er with becoming modesty.

"And you came through them all unhurt?"

"Not exactly," he returned sadly. "I married the fifth."—American Legion Weekly.

Every Woman Loves to Paint when she knows how—let us tell you

PAINTING is really fascinating work. Once you are started you'll probably not want to stop until you have refinished many things you did not intend to do at first. Of course there are some simple directions that must be followed if the work is to be successful, for we have a special "Home Service Paint Department" which was organized just to tell you how to paint.

Perhaps some of your furniture, floors, woodwork or walls are beginning to look a little old—just on the surface. Pick out one or two things to refinish. Tell us about them and how you want them to look when finished.

Our experts will tell you what materials to use, how to do the work step by step, what brushes you'll need, and everything about it. For 73 years we have been making paints, varnishes, enamels, wall finishes and stains for women to use. They are the finest materials of their kind that we know.

Write for Fuller's Free Advice and refinish a few home things. You'll be surprised how fascinating the work is and how much you can save, too.

Knockouts Feature the Legion Boxing Contest

The regular fortnightly boxing exhibition staged by the American Legion last Friday night did not draw quite as large a crowd as usual, probably on account of the names on the card not being well known in Covina. The affair, however, proved to be as good a card as Manager Bert Mills has been able to offer in some weeks.

In the last and main event, Young Farrell met Pete Herman of Los Angeles. This was a good contest, Farrell being awarded the decision.

In the opener, Joe Citron delivered a knockout to Young Semler.

In the next match, Teddy Levin, who has appeared in Covina a number of times, was substituted for Phil Chance, and won a decision over Benny Diaz.

Dick McFarland, a new boxer from the east, administered a knockout to Joe Thomas, who has been one of the favorites at the Hollywood arena.

Joe Duffy of Vernon, who looked about twenty pounds heavier than his opponent, Frankie Tierney of San Diego, met his match, and the event was called a draw.

In the bout between Packy McMullen and Adam Hemery, McMullen won by a knockout blow in the fourth, after Hamery had had the best of things all the way.

The next event will be held next Friday evening, October 13. The main event for this evening will be between Kid Louis of Placentia and Young Farrell of Los Angeles. These two boys are both popular here, and fought to a draw here a few weeks ago. The semi-windup will be between LeRoy and Moran. Each of these men is credited with five straight knockouts in his latest battles.

Lineberger Banquet To Be Held Here Monday

A rallying banquet will be given on Monday evening at 7 o'clock in Odd-fellows' hall, at which the Republican voters of Covina will have an opportunity to meet Congressman Lineberger.

A committee of citizens has charge of the arrangements and an entertaining program will be provided. Major Lineberger is endorsed by Wayne Wheeler, general counsel and legislative superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of America, as a clean-cut champion of the cause of temperance, a man who has given service under the flag, and of proven loyalty to the public in all things entrusted to him during his present term. Tickets for the banquet may be obtained from members of the committee of arrangements, or at the door on night of banquet. Ladies will be welcomed.

Miss Dowling is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Frank Dowling, who made their home on East Cypress avenue, Covina, some years ago.

Juvenile Frankses.

Among the subjects for "compositions" given out in a primary school was that of "bravery." The lad who drew this turned in his effort in these terms: "Some boys are brave because they always play with little fellows, and some boys are brave because their legs are too short to run away, but most boys are brave because somebody is looking on."

Empty Pockets.

"A great many jokes are based on Scotch thrift." "I guess the Scotch can stand it," said Mr. Grumpton. "The fellow who laughs loudest over somebody else's desire to look after the pennies is usually in no position to rattle anything but his head."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

World Dominion

The spirit of unrest pervading the world at the present time is but a reflex of conditions prevailing at intervals from the earliest dawn of history.

The struggle among the nations for world supremacy has existed from the earliest ages and seems likely to continue until the end of time.

Long before the nations of Europe came into existence, the ancient Egyptians represented the highest state of civilization and power—to be succeeded in turn by the Babylonians, Assyrians, Chaldeans, Greeks, and Romans.

Each of these nations climbed to supremacy over the ruins of bygone grandeur and the slaughter of millions. Side by side with the physical progress of the nations came the development of science, art, industry and religion.

Among all these ancient nations, Rome stood preeminent as the greatest colonizing power, and directly or indirectly the great European nations of today owe their existence to the far-reaching arm of the Roman empire.

In the course of time Spain with her mighty ships swept the seas and dominated the world's commerce. England in turn crushed the power of Spain and has maintained her supremacy despite the efforts of the Dutch under Van Tromp and the French under Napoleon to wrest it from her. How long this supremacy is to continue remains for time to decide. The evolution of nations would indicate that there must be an end, and some other nation must eventually take that proud position. As the different states of ancient Greece and Rome succeeded in turn to the supremacy of the mother country, what is more likely than that in the course of time the United States of America—the offspring of the greatest colonizing power the world has ever known—will be the next great dominating nation and carry on to perfection the world civilization and progress which has been for hundreds of years past and is now the crowning glory of the British empire?

When this change comes there will be an exception to the precedent which has signalized such transitions in past ages. It will be a bloodless evolution—the progress of time—a loftier civilization and the bond of affinity will render undesirable and unnecessary the trail of blood which has marked the advance of nations in the past. The civilizing influence of moral suasion prompted by a benign Christianity with a desire to make the world a safe place to live in, will be carried on with greater vim to greater perfection until at last there will be inaugurated a peace among the nations such as the world has long desired but has scarcely dared to hope for.

"Valley of Silent Men" Show Feature Tonight

A picture which combines magnificent scenic beauty with a thrilling story is "The Valley of Silent Men," adapted from James Oliver Curwood's famous novel of the same name.

Those familiar with the novel, which ran serially in Good Housekeeping Magazine in 1920, will recall that it is a story of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police, with the Rocky mountains for a background.

For the purpose of imparting realism to the screen, the entire company went to Banff, in the Canadian Rockies, and there practically every foot of action was enacted and photographed.

The picture, which features Alma Rubens at the head of a small but powerful cast, is coming to the Covina theater tonight (Friday) and tomorrow.

On Monday and Tuesday nights this theater presents Sheehan's widely-read novel, "If You Believe It, It's So," with Thomas Meighan as the star. The story of a young city crook who finds peace and happiness in the country is delightfully told by a cast of players which includes, in addition to the star, Theodore Roberts, Pauline Stark, Joseph Dowling and Charles Ogle.

These two pictures have each had successful runs recently at Grauman's in Los Angeles.

Papal Hat Worn in 850.

Originally the tiara or triple crown of the pope, was a plain high cap, much like those in which dogs of Venice are so often represented in oil pictures. It was first introduced by Pope Nicholas I, in 850. Just when the first coronet was added is a matter of uncertainty, but the second was placed by Pope Boniface VIII in 1295 and the third by Pope Urban V, about 1368.

Lineberger Opposed To Hiram Johnson Policies

On March 29, 1922, Congressman Walter F. Lineberger, writing from Washington, D. C., addressed the following letter to the editor of the Long Beach Telegram, sending copies to every newspaper in the ninth congressional district:

"At the outset, let me say that I am not a candidate for the Senate, nor do I expect to become one unless the good people of California should deem my entrance into the field necessary to accomplish an end to which so many Californians have consecrated themselves. In common with them I feel that Senator Johnson no longer represents the ideals, hopes and aspirations of the manhood and womanhood of California and this nation, and that his defeat is necessary if our people are to be given a full opportunity to express themselves in the Senate. To that end you may confidently count upon me to the utmost, no matter what position I hold. Very sincerely yours,
W. F. LINEBERGER.

GAS ASSOCIATION HOLDS CONVENTION AT SANTA BARBARA

The Southern Counties Gas Company was well represented at the twenty-ninth annual convention of the Pacific Coast Gas Association held recently at Santa Barbara. According to reports, the local gas company's representatives outnumbered all of the utilities at the convention.

Frank E. Wade, superintendent of operation of the local company, vice-president of the Pacific Coast Gas Association, and one of the leading figures in the activities of the gas fraternity in the far west, was unanimously elected president of the organization for 1923. Two other Southern Counties men were given positions on the 1923 roster of the association. M. E. Thompson, engineer, was made chairman of the Wrinner committee, and Clyde H. Potter, advertising man, was made chairman of the publicity committee.

The convention next year will be held at Del Monte about the middle of September.

PARENT-TEACHER ASSOCIATION TO HOLD FIRST MEET OF YEAR

Hall, principal of the grammar school, is also on the program for a short talk, and Mrs. Mary Coman will speak on the law enforcement act known as the Wright act. There will also be a meeting of the executive committee at 2:15, preceding the general meeting.

VESSELS BUILT IN SECTIONS

Ships intended for Operation on Lakes Far Inland Are Now Transported Piece-meal.

A well-known shipbuilding firm in the north of England is at the present time building a vessel which will be carried to Africa in portions. It will be re-assembled at its ultimate destination.

Every year ships are built in Great Britain for use on lakes and inland waters in all parts of the world. Usually these are built and bolted together in the shipyard before being taken to pieces and sent to distant parts in separate packages.

A large mission steamer built some years ago for use on Lake Nyassa, in Africa, was erected in England as if for launching. But no rivets were used; bolts and nuts held the steel framework together. The sides, port and starboard, were painted in different colors, and every bar, plate, and piece of steelwork bore a different number and letter.

Thus the builders in Africa could tell at a glance whether a plate belonged to one side or the other; the exact position it was intended to occupy was denoted by the reference number and letter.

In order to facilitate transport, this steamer was divided into over three thousand packages, each of which weighed from half a hundredweight to five hundredweights.

The greatest difficulty encountered in sending these ships abroad is with the boilers and masts. The boilers weigh many tons, and the masts are difficult to handle on account of their length.

Chair Once Used by Primate Bramhall Restored to Place in Cathedral at Armagh.

An ancient chair which was dedicated recently at Armagh (Ireland) cathedral by the primate was a great find, being the oak chair belonging to Primate Bramhall, who came into office shortly after Cromwell's time. For many years efforts have been made to trace the chair, but it was only a few weeks ago that it was discovered to be in the hands of a well-known London expert. The chair was submitted to a famous antiquarian who at once identified it, with the result that it has returned to its original home—the cathedral. At the top of the chair is carved a large eye—the all-seeing eye; beneath it a crown after a mitre, and under that the arms of the See of Armagh. Under this is the true cross, and below it again 1661—the date on which Archbishop Bramhall was enthroned. On the last panel are the capital letters, "M.R.H.," standing for Armagh.

To Honor Noted Frenchman.

The French Academy of Sciences has been officially informed that Switzerland is preparing to commemorate the centenary of the great French mechanician and watchmaker, Abraham Louis Breguet. Born in Neuchatel in 1747, member of the Institut and Bureau of Longitudes, he died in Paris in 1823. The astronomical and nautical instruments invented by Breguet were noted for the perfection of their workmanship. His improvements in watches included the use of rubies in pivot holes. He fled to London during the Reign of Terror, but returned after the ninth Thermidor. On the occasion of this centenary the Swiss council of state will hold next year an international competition for chronometers in the observatory of Neuchatel.

Gone Beyond Repair.

I was returning on the electric train late one day from a long hike with my geology class. We were tired, and in getting our seats I pushed with my foot the back of the seat in front so that we could face each other.

I heard a crash, and with dismay saw I had knocked to the floor a bag which was on the seat. The owner promptly appeared on the scene with what seemed to me undue anxiety. I apologized for my act, adding that no harm seemed to have been done to his bag.

His perturbation was explained when he announced in a loud voice, "Young man, there are eggs in that bag!"—Exchange.

King Admires Shakespeare.

The king of Siam is one of the outspoken admirers of Shakespeare. This was learned through the recent anniversary celebrations at Stratford, when a letter was received by the chairman of the trustees of Shakespeare's birthplace, written by the king's secretary, who says that the king is translating Shakespeare's works into Siamese. The secretary sent on behalf of the king a check for $500 as a personal contribution to the Shakespeare Birthplace Trust and $250 for the memorial theater fund. He says that his majesty is an ardent admirer of the British national poet and is doing his utmost to induce the Siamese to study him.

Harmony of Colors.

It is a well-known fact that a pleasing harmony of colors attracts the eye much as musical harmony pleases the ear. In order to test the harmony of color combinations, a machine has been devised, described and illustrated in the Popular Mechanics Magazine, with which a colored disk is revolved rapidly so as to cause the colors to merge, and this visual mixing of the colors gives the same result to the eye as would the actual mixing of the colored inks themselves.

Classy Dressers in 1776.

The following was the uniform for the officers of the corps, by order of the "Marine Committee," dated September 5, 1776: "A green coat faced with white, round cuff, slashed sleeves and pockets, with buttons round the cuff, skirts turned back, buttons to suit the facings; white waistcoat and breeches edged with green, black garters and garters." The order also stated that green shirts were ordered for the men "if they can be procured."

Small-Minded Woman.

Lodger (to landlady)—"Now, see here, Mrs. Fish; on all sides of us great world industries are collapsing—state banks are failing and the postal service labors with a million dollar deficit, and here you come and make a scene because I owe you one month's rent."

First Farm Book.

"A Boke of Husbandry"—believed to be the first book on farming printed in England country—was bought recently for a sum equal to about $1,500 on behalf of the British museum at Sotheby's salesrooms. This book, so small that it could easily be slipped in the pocket, was printed in 1523 by one Richard Pynson. It was written by Sir Anthony Fitzherbert of Norbury, Derbyshire, and is in excellent condition, though colored with age. It is bound in morocco.

The Origin of Salt.

The geologist Suess holds the source of the sea salt was volcanic eruptions, when the earth's crust was beginning to harden it. Eruptions, he says, give forth gaseous compounds containing chlorine, which is brought down by rain.
